7.1.4: Student pledge to uphold constitutional obligations: values, rights, duties and responsibilities of citizens

Students' Pledge

As a student of Oriental Institute of Management, I solemnly pledge to uphold the values and principles enshrined in the Constitution of India. I recognize that our Constitution is the bedrock of our nation, embodying the ideals of justice, liberty, equality, and fraternity.

I pledge to respect and uphold the democratic values that form the foundation of our nation's governance. I will abide by the rule of law and promote a spirit of inclusivity, recognizing the diversity that enriches our society.

I commit myself to the pursuit of knowledge and academic excellence, fostering an environment of open-mindedness and intellectual curiosity. I will approach my studies with diligence and integrity, striving to be a responsible and ethical scholar.

I vow to uphold the principles of equality and non-discrimination, treating all individuals with respect and dignity, irrespective of their background, gender, religion, caste, or economic status.

I will engage in constructive dialogue and peaceful discourse, valuing diverse perspectives and promoting a culture of tolerance and understanding.

As a responsible citizen and a member of the OIM community, I pledge to contribute positively to the welfare of our society. I will actively participate in initiatives that aim to uplift the underprivileged and marginalized, working towards a more equitable and just society.

I will cherish and protect the democratic values that have been bestowed upon us by our Constitution. I recognize that with rights come responsibilities, and I pledge to exercise my rights responsibly, respecting the rights of others.

I will strive to be a conscientious and compassionate leader, upholding the values of integrity and honesty in all my actions.

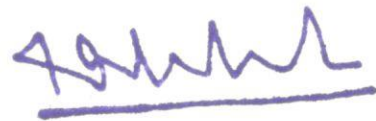

In times of challenges, I will stand united with my fellow students, faculty, and staff, demonstrating the spirit of unity and cooperation that defines our nation's strength.

By taking this pledge, I commit myself to be an active and responsible citizen, contributing to the progress and prosperity of our nation and upholding the ideals that make India a diverse and vibrant democracy.

This pledge shall guide my conduct and actions throughout my tenure at Oriental Institute of Management and beyond, as I embrace the responsibilities of being a citizen of India, committed to its growth and welfare.
